

I am Alessandra Brogliatto, originally from Piedmont, the northern part of Italy. I live in Ivrea, with my two sons, Tommaso and Federico and my husband Frank. I am 61 years old, I have been working for social cooperation since 1995 and I fell in love with it from the first meeting, for its values, its principles, because it is collaboration, common action, personal and collective empowerment, because it is development and innovation.

I graduated in Pedagogy at the University of Turin, and since 2000 I have been responsible for the Research Development Training, Equal Opportunities and Universal Civil Service Sector for Confcooperative Piemonte Nord.

In 2008, I became Managing Director of IL NODO social consortium and with great enthusiasm I became a member of the National Commission of Confcooperative Cooperative Executives and coordinator of the Commission of Confcooperative Cooperative Executives Piedmont. To date, I am a member of the select committee, coordinator of the working group on combating gender-based violence and I participate in the Gender and Generations working group. I am a Member and Vice President of the Committee for Women's Entrepreneurship of the Turin Chamber of Commerce.

I am part of the CooperAzione Women Commission of Confcooperative, bringing content and participation. Europe is also among the topics discussed in coordination with Cooperatives Europe, a cooperative representative body at European level. I am a member of the Select Committee, coordinator of the working group on Combating Gender-Based Violence and I participate in the Gender and Generations working group.

With great enthusiasm and responsibility, I held the role of member of GEC - Gender Equality Committee, of the ICA - International Cooperative Alliance, for the Alliance of Italian Cooperatives. In recent years we have worked synergistically to develop and strengthen the international relational capital of women's cooperation. We have strengthened the role of political oversight of the GEC, shared models of representation and tools for rebalancing. Attention was paid to the development of the skills of female cooperators by enhancing women's leadership programs and to the action against gender violence that is represented in its seriousness all over the world.

It is important for me to continue to highlight how free and active European and international exchange is necessary and that it can make a difference to the lives of individuals and our countries. And today I am excited to bring my candidacy again.

I will contribute my experience on equal opportunities, reconciliation, welfare and social economy using all the tools acquired during my work in research, as a trainer, in the design and management of training courses, in orientation for job placements. Drawing on a wealth of experience present in coordination and development and in European and international planning, as well as national and local planning. As well as what I learned in the exciting experiences I had in European and international projects in different countries Brazil and Cameroon, on cooperation in the agricultural field, on social cooperation, meeting women engaged in different activities.

Thank you for this special opportunity
